Company: PMI

Location: Saudi Arabia

Category: healthcare-practitioners-and-technical

The day-to-day duties and responsibilities of an infection control nurse vary depending on the type of facility they work in, but all will be involved in certain infection prevention and control measures, investigating outbreaks, educating colleagues and patients about best practices, and developing and maintaining outbreak initiatives. A primary responsibility of an infection control nurse is to analyze, collect and interpret infection prevention and control measures within a healthcare facility. In this way, they work to manage infection prevention systems.
